Mission Statement of the American Nursing Informatics Association

The mission of ANIA is to advance nursing informatics through education, research, and practice in all roles and settings.

Introduction

The American Nursing Informatics Association (ANIA) is the association of professional nurses and associates who:

- Are committed to their specialty that integrates nursing science, computer science and information science to manage and communicate data, information, knowledge and wisdom in nursing and informatics practice
- Identify informatics practice as a specialty that is essential to the delivery of high quality, and cost-effective health care
- Are committed to their professional development and seek to actively engage in a community of like-minded professionals
- Use informatics to improve the health of populations, communities, families and individuals by optimizing information management and communication

Membership is 3,200 nurses and other healthcare professionals in informatics practice and includes roles in: system design and implementation, education, research (analysis and evaluation), standards and policy development, quality improvement, as well as those in management and administration.
